APPENDIX

Applicants recently became aware, by virtue of the enclosed notification from Special Programs Examiner Bost, that there has been an apparently unsuccessful attempt to file a protest in the present application. This protest was not entered into the files of the USPTO because it apparently did not meet all of the requirements of 37 C.F.R. §1.99 for failure to provide copies and pay the appropriate fee.

Nevertheless, in order to assure that the Examiner considers the very best prior art available during examination of this application, Applicant wishes to bring the contents of the protest and the art referenced in the protest to the attention of the Examiner. Applicant respectfully requests full consideration of the position stated in the protest as well as the art cited in the protest in examination of the present application. Applicant does so without any admission that the art is relevant or material (or more or less relevant than other art) to the patentability of the present invention, or indeed that the listed material in whole or in part even constitutes prior art.

Specifically regarding the reference in the protest to Claria.com web site (formerly Gator.com - which apparently no longer exists - one is directed to Claria.com), Applicant has provided a full printout of all pages of the web site herewith as they existed on June 10, 2004. This printout includes all of the currently available press releases referenced in the web site. However, due to the potential massive volume of printout and uncertain relevance, Applicant has not provided copies of the articles referenced on this web site. The Examiner is encouraged to examine these articles also during examination of this application. A full listing and links to the articles can be found at Claria.com under "company information" > "newsroom" > "articles". Furthermore, while Applicant believes that the attached document represents all information from Claria.com with the exception of the articles from the web site, the Examiner is requested to verify same and explore the actual web site for relevant information in order to assure that the best art is brought forward and considered in examination of this application.
